

Department of Chicano/Latino Studies DCLS

Volume 11 Issue 1

Fall 2007

RUIZ NAMED INTERIM DEAN

VICKI RUIZ, professor of Chicano/Latino Studies & History has been named Interim Dean of the University of California, Irvine School of Humanities, effective September 1.

Professor Ruiz's scholarship analyzes 20th century U.S. history specializing in Chicana/o studies, gender studies, labor and immigration. She served on the National Council on the Humanities and was selected as Latina magazine's Woman of the Year awardee in 2000. She is President of the American Studies Association and a Fellow of the Society of American Historians. The search for a permanent dean will continue.

Please join us in welcoming Vicki Ruiz to her new role and assisting her as we continue to build an outstanding program in the Humanities.

Open to All Campus Community

DCLS 14TH ANNUAL OPEN HOUSE

October, 11, 2007

4:00 to 6:00 pm

Social Science Tower Court Yard

between SSH and SSL buildings

next to Aldrich Park

Enjoy Mexican food &

Latin Salsa music by Frank Cano musicians.

For more information call (949) 824-7180

FACULTY NEWS

ANA ELIZABETH ROSAS (pictured at right) joined the UCI Departments of Chicano/Latino Studies and History, as an assistant professor. [See Chair's Letter for more on Ana Rosas.]

Susan Coutin, associate professor Criminology, Law, & Society, and DCLS faculty affiliate has published Nation of Emigrants: Shifting Boundaries of Citizenship in El Salvador and the United States (Cornell).

Louis DeSipio, DCLS chair and associate professor of Chicano/Latino Studies and Political Science presented his research in the spring and summer at various scholarly venues. He lectured as part of the Bacardi Family Lecture Series at the University of Florida. The theme for this year's Bacardi lectures was "The State of Latino Studies." He also presented research findings on immigrant incorporation at the Social Science Research Institute in Berlin and on the impact of religious affiliation and church attendance on immigrant naturalization behaviors at the University of Texas at Austin. Finally, he presented an assessment of the medium- and long-term legacies of the 2006 immigrant rights protests at a University of California, Berkeley conference.

Cynthia Feliciano, assistant professor of Chicano/Latino Studies and Sociology, has been named a 2007-08 National Academy of Faculty News continued on Page 2.

CHAIR'S LETTER

Dear Friends of
Chicano/Latino Studies:

The 2007-08 academic year begins auspiciously for Chicano/Latino Studies. In late September, Professor Alejandro Morales received the Luis Leal Award for Distinction in Chicano/Latino Literature from the University of California, Santa Barbara, Santa Barbara City College, and the Santa Barbara Book Council. The Award is among the most prestigious literary awards in Latino literature. Professor Morales' latest novel The Captain of All These Men of Death will be published this fall by Bilingual Review Press.

We are also pleased to welcome a new faculty member this Fall. Ana Rosas joins UCI as an Assistant Professor of Chicano/Latino Studies and History. Dr. Rosas earned her Ph.D. in History and American Studies from the University of Southern California. She was a 2006-07 recipient of a U.C. President's Postdoctoral Fellowship. In her Fellowship, she worked under the supervision of UCI's Vicki Ruiz (Chicano/Latino Studies and History, Interim Dean of Humanities).

Dr. Rosas's research examines the Bracero Program's consequences for participating families on both sides of the U.S.-Mexico border. She employs a gendered analysis of the migration program that offers new and thoughtful insights into how failures in the design of the program by both the U.S. and Mexican governments ensured the establishment of a "culture of migration" that has characterized the Mexican relationship with the United States in the years since.

Dr. Rosas is hitting the ground running at UCI. She will be teaching several courses in Chicano/Latino Studies and History this year, including the second half of our survey course on Chicana/Chicano History and a class on the family dynamics of migration. As should be evident, Ana Rosas will add considerably to the strength of Chicano/Latino Studies research and teaching.

I look forward to seeing you throughout the year. With your ongoing support, Chicano/Latino Studies at UCI will continue to thrive!

Sincerely,

Louis DeSipio

Louis DeSipio
Chair, Department of Chicano/Latino Studies &
Associate Professor, Departments of Chicano/Latino Studies and Political Science

FACULTY NEWS

Continued from Page 1.

Education/Spencer Postdoctoral Fellow. The fellowship provides funding for her project "Gender and Ethnic Disparities in Early School Engagement among Children of Immigrants," which seeks to explain why minority males tend to be less engaged in school than their female counterparts by examining how family and school processes produce advantages for girls through the early years of schooling. Feliciano is one of twenty recipients selected from a competitive pool of nearly two hundred applications for the fellowship, which supports education research.

Raul Fernandez, professor of Chicano/Latino Studies and Social Sciences was interviewed on June 18, 2007 by ON THE MAP WITH AVI LEWIS, an international affairs analysis program of CBC Newsworld, on the topic Colombia's Para-Political Crisis. The interview can be accessed on the archive section of CBC's Website: http://www.cbc.ca/on_the_map.

Lisa Garcia Bedolla, associate professor Chicano/Latino Studies and Political Science has two journal articles that have recently been published, one in Politics and Gender entitled Intersections of Inequality: Understanding Marginalization and Privilege in the Post Civil-Rights Era and one, co-authored with Jessica Lavariega Monforti and Adrian Pantoja, in the Journal of Women, Politics, & Policy entitled A Second Look: the Latina/o Gender Gap. Garcia Bedolla also has three forthcoming book chapters examining voter mobilization in minority communities in California, Latina/o party identification, and issues of race and social capital, respectively.

Garcia Bedolla, with Melissa Michelson of California State University East Bay and Donald Green of Yale University, recently received a $435,000 grant from the James Irvine Foundation to continue evaluating their California Votes Initiative. The first white paper summarizing the results from the 2006 elections will soon be available at http://www.irvine.org/publications/new_pubs.shtml. Information on the California Votes Initiative may be found at: http://www.irvine.org/grants_program/cp/cvi.shtml.

Garcia Bedolla has also been selected to serve on three journal editorial boards: American Political Science Review, Politics and Gender, and Latino Studies.

Alejandro Morales, professor of Chicano/Latino Studies and Spanish and Portuguese, is the 2007 recipient of the Luis Leal Award for Distinction in Chicano/Latino Literature. The Leal Award, awarded annually by UC Santa Barbara, recognizes an accomplished writer of the Chicano/Latino experience. Previous recipients of the Leal Award include Oscar Hijuelos, Rudolfo Anaya, Denise Chávez, and Helena María Viramontes.

Vicki Ruiz, Interim Dean School of Humanities, professor of Chicano/Latino Studies and History, has a forthcoming book titled: Memories and Migrations: Mapping Boricua and Chicana Histories, co-edited with John Chavez (University of Illinois Press, 2007). The volume features essays by eight Latina historians and is based on a conference held in 2004 on Latina history organized by Ruiz and Chavez. Professor Ruiz's Latinas in the United States: A Historical Encyclopedia was named a 2007 Best of Reference by the New York Public Library.

Deborah Vargas, assistant professor Chicano/Latino Studies, has received a Ford Foundation Postdoctoral Fellowship in support of her research which examines historical configurations of citizenship, nation, gender, sexuality and race through a feminist analysis of twentieth century Mexican American women singers and musicians. As part of her fellowship, Vargas will spend the 2007-2008 academic year at the University of California, Los Angeles with host institution mentor Chon Noriega. Professor Vargas will complete final revisions of her manuscript tentatively titled "Decolonial Divas: Gender, Sexuality and Nation in the Making of Texas-Mexican-American Music."

Vargas has also received the John Randolph & Dora Hayes Foundation Award for her project titled "Radio Waves/ Immigrant Waves: Spanish Language Radio, Immigration and Cultural Citizenship".

DCLS 2007-2008
COLLOQUIA SERIES
Community Building and Performance in Latino Cultures

See Calendar of Events for more informaton.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

COLLOQUIA 2007-08

"Grassroots 2006," Artwork by: Jose Ramirez

Community Building and Performance in Latino Cultures

All events are scheduled 4:00 pm at Cross Cultural Center

October 4, 2007 GILDA OCHOA,
Associate Professor of Sociology & Chicana/
o-Latina/o Studies, Pomona College:
"(De)Constructing 'the Gap': Asian American and Latina/o Educational Experiences at a Southern California High School."

January 24, 2008 MONIKA KAUP,
Associate Professor of English, University of Washington, Seattle: *"The Chicano
Baroque and Sor Juana as Feminist Chicana Paradigm."*

University of California, Irvine
School of Social Sciences
Department of Chicano/Latino Studies
3151 Social Science Plaza A
Irvine, CA 92697-5100-91
Forwarding Service Requested

February 13, 2008 MARK PRIEWE,
Professor of American Studies, University of Potsdam, Germany: "El Rey del Rocanrol: 'El Vez and the Performance of Ethnic Identities.'"

April 17, 2008 MAX BENAVIDEZ,
Resident Scholar, Chicano Studies Research
Center, University of California, Los Angeles:
*"Before and After Asco (Nausea): The Difference between Chicano Art, the Chicano
Avant-Garde, and Contemporary 21st Century Latino Art."*

SAVE THE DATE**

MAY 15, 2008

LOUIS DESIPIO, chair and associate professor, Chicano-Latino Studies, Political Science, scheduled guest speaker for Social Sciences Dinner Club 2007-2008:

"Why Can't We Reform Immigration?"

For more information call 949-824-2511,

DCLS NEWSLETTER STAFF
Managing Editor: Stella Ginez
(949) 824-7180
(949) 824-1019 FAX
www.socsci.uci.edu/clstudies