Purpose of Course
This course serves as an introduction to some of the major theories concepts and processes that help us to understand how race and ethnicity shape the legal, political and social construction of the United States. Particular attention will be paid to the institutions, ideologies, attitudes and behaviors that shape how White, Black, Asian, Latino and Indigenous people navigate the American political system, as well as with one another. Themes around which this course will revolve include:

- The legal and social construction of race and ethnicity, and the meaning attached to these categories
- Incorporation of socially marginalized groups into the American political system, and potential impediments to the substantive advancement of group interests
- Relationships between and among racial/ethnic groups, and the prospects for cooperation and conflict between groups.

Course Description
The lecture will utilize a combination of presentations, small & large group discussion, and visual and audio clips and occasional class exercises to address the issues and insights raised by the assigned readings. The discussion sections will allow students to reflect more deeply on the course material via in-class activities and group discussion.

The class is formatted to advance students’ awareness and understanding of: (1) the significant role of race/ethnicity in structuring of U.S. society, individually and collectively; (2) the evolving influence of laws, policies and attitudes on outcomes for racial/ethnic groups in the U.S., and (3) both the commonalities and distinctions between and within various racial/ethnic groups.

Course Requirements
Lecture in-class exercises (10%)
Discussion section attendance (10%)
Discussion section participation (10%)
Discussion section in-class exercises (10%)
Application papers (30%)
Take home short answer final exam (30%)

Lecture in-class exercises
In lieu of daily attendance, I will occasionally assign in-class exercises that can only be completed for credit by students in attendance that day. These exercises are your incentive for attending lecture regularly. These exercises will be completed and submitted online via the course Canvas page. Please ensure you bring a device to class that will allow you to complete the exercises.

Many of these exercises involve either interacting with others in the class, or answering questions about the audio/visual material shown in class. If you miss a class session on a day one of these exercises was assigned it is your responsibility to acquire the information needed to complete the exercise. Exercises submitted within 24 hours of the class date can receive full credit.

Application papers
Over the course of the term, you must submit two short papers (usually about 3-4 pages, double spaced—specific guidelines will be provided on each individual prompt) written outside of class and submitted via Canvas. In the papers you will respond to specific prompts that will be announced in class. You will have at least one week to complete them from the day they are announced. Both papers will require you to draw heavily on the “Historical Foundations” section of the Uneven Roads textbook. Each paper will be worth 15 points, with the two together totaling 30% of your grade.

Take home final exam
During the final week of classes, you will be assigned a short answer, open-book exam. You will have at least a week’s time to complete and submit the exam via Canvas. Exams will be evaluated primarily by the extent to which you provide accurate and complete responses that draw on the readings, as well as provide meaningful examples when asked to do so. There is no in-class final exam for this course, and the course does not meet during exam week.

DISCUSSION SECTION
You are expected to be present and an active participant in all discussion sections. Both attending and being a vocal participant in small and large group discussions are vital components of your final grade. Please ensure that you are aware of your TA’s expectations for what constitutes active participation within sections. Your TA has complete discretion over how to evaluate your performance within the section, so it is in your best interests to consult them directly if you have any questions.
any questions about how to meet their standards.

Regularly in your discussion section, you will be provided with written exercises to be completed either individually or in groups. These exercises will be collected at the end of class, and points will be distributed for completion. These assignments will not be announced ahead of time. There is no way to make up an in-class exercise if you have an unexcused absence on the day it is given. These exercises will require you to think critically about how the course concepts relate to your own experiences.

If you anticipate missing class for a valid reason (such as documented illness, a standing academic, athletic, professional or familial commitment that conflicts with class time, etc.), send your TA an email notifying them before the class session you expect to miss. If you follow this procedure, your TA will offer you a chance to complete the day’s in-class exercise on your own in order to receive full credit.

Grading Scale
I use the following grading scale for assignments and final course scores. I will not accommodate any grading related requests after the deadline to send grades to the registrar, which is Thursday Mar 28.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Minimum Score</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A+</td>
<td>≥ 98.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>≥ 88.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C+</td>
<td>≥ 78.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D+</td>
<td>≥ 68.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>≥ 92.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>≥ 82.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>≥ 72.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>≥ 62.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>≥ 90.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B-</td>
<td>≥ 80.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C-</td>
<td>≥ 70.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D-</td>
<td>≥ 60.0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Readings
There is one required text for the course. It should be available for 2-hr course reserve in Langson Library: Uneven Roads: An Introduction to U.S. Racial and Ethnic Politics, by Todd Shaw, Louis DeSipio, Dianne Pinderhughes and Toni-Michele C. Travis (1st or 2nd edition is fine)

All other assigned readings are available either through links provided in this syllabus, or under the "Files" link on the Canvas page.

Class policies
You are strongly encouraged to visit me in person, primarily during my office hours. If your schedule prevents you from meeting during my office hours, we can arrange to meet at another time.

I am generally very responsive to emails, but please note that emails sent late at night may take longer for me to respond to. Before you email me with questions or concerns, please check the syllabus and the course site to ensure the answer you’re looking for isn’t already available in one of these resources. Please include the course number (either “PS61A” or “CHC/LAT 64”) in the subject line of all emails sent to me.
Students with disabilities who need accommodations are encouraged to contact me. The UCI Disability Services Center is available to accommodate students. You can learn more about programs and support by visiting the UCI Disability Services Center website at www.disability.uci.edu, by phone: 949-824-7494 and by TDD: 949-824-6272.

Policy on Plagiarism and Grade Grievances
There is a strictly enforced, zero-tolerance policy regarding both cheating and plagiarism. An overview and resources for UC Irvine’s policies related to academic honesty is located at: http://honesty.uci.edu

In the event that you disagree with a grade handed down on an assignment, you must follow a specific procedure to contest the grade. Within one week after the assignment is returned to you, you must provide me with a written explanation of why you believe your grade is incorrect. This explanation must cite relevant sources from the texts or lecture in support of your grievance. I will review your complaint, if determined necessary, I will re-grade your assignment. Please be aware that the new grade may be lower than your original grade.

Expectations of Students
- Arrive on time
- Be prepared to participate
- Respect others
- Give best effort on assignments
- Adhere to rules of academic integrity

Expectations of Instructor
- Arrive on time
- Be prepared to facilitate
- Respect all students
- Make every effort to facilitate student’s learning
- Grade assignments objectively

*******

If warranted, this syllabus is subject to change.

Course Schedule

Introductions, definitions & significance

Week 1 (Jan 9-11) NO CLASS MON JAN 7
Uneven Roads, Ch. 1

[OPTIONAL]
Part I: How We Got Here—Influence of Laws, Policies & Norms on Race

Week 2 (Jan 14-18): Shaping the racial order
Uneven Roads, Chs. 13

[OPTIONAL]

Week 3 (Jan 21-23): Shaping racial outcomes and inequities NO CLASS FRI JAN 25
Uneven Roads, Chs. 10 & 11

[OPTIONAL]

Part II: Racial Identity, attitudes and ideology

Week 4 (Jan 28-Feb 1): Racial identification and attachment
Uneven Roads, Ch. 8

[OPTIONAL]

Week 5 (Feb 4-8): Influence of race on attitudes and policy preferences

[OPTIONAL]

PART III: Taking action—Race/ethnicity & political behavior

*Week 6 (Feb 11-13): Models of minority electoral participation NO CLASS FRI FEB 15

Uneven Roads, Ch. 9

Week 7 (Feb 18-22): Radical & non-electoral movements

Clio Change (12/6/17) “The Forgotten History of America’s Radical Asian Activists” http://www.thefeministwire.com/2014/10/blacklivesmatter-2/

PART IV: Representation, responsiveness & relationships

Week 8 (Feb 25-Mar 1): Group representation & policy outcomes

Week 9 (Feb 4-Mar 8): Prospects for coalition and conflict between groups

Week 10 (Mar 11-13): Class Wrap-Up NO CLASS FRI MAR 15
No readings